Business Identifier:

Scientific solution company: advanced math based software solutions

General Profile:

Metron is a scientific consulting company dedicated to solving problems in national defense through the development and application of advanced mathematical methods. With locations in Virginia and California, the firm is organized into 5 divisions: Advanced Data Analytics, Advanced Mathematics Applications, Computing and Engineering Technologies for Unmanned Systems, Operations Analysis and Simulation Sciences, and Operations Research and Cyber Analysis. The firm's goal is to realize problem solutions in computer software with graphical interfaces that allow a user to understand and act on the results without having to comprehend the intricacies of the models themselves. Metron's operations include non-linear data fusion, threat detection for counter-terrorism, defense of ships and facilities from terrorist threats, and Littoral Warfare analysis.
